Description: The Designated Authority for Cyprus established a distinctive webpage on its government website specifically developed to provide ISPS Code implementation information.

Discussion: This well-organized and detailed website effectively communicates ISPS Code implementation information and guidance. In addition, a dedicated telephone number and email address was posted on this webpage which allows representatives of the maritime industry to submit their ISPS Code implementation questions.

Potential Down-side: The costs and technical skills necessary for creating, hosting, and maintaining the website.

Conclusion: This is a highly efficient method to communicate information.

Cost: Cost estimates unavailable.
